Surprise? Admiration? Fear?.But as he went back up the streets of South Port he lost her. He swore to keep her with him, to think of her, to think of her that night, but she faded away. By the time he opened the door of Master Hemlock's house he was reciting lists of names, or wondering what would be for dinner, for he was hungry most of the time. Not till he could take an hour and run back down to the docks could he think of her..something more in her, something beyond what she was. And when Irian looked away from the world.why? Why did it blow against them?.another world..behind them emerged majestically slow, huge surfaces filled with people, like flying stations,.Neither of them had any doubt but that he was a man of great power. Some noise or movement roused him. He looked up."Don't be afraid," Gelluk said, his voice strong and musical over the panting gasp of the huge bellows and the steady roar of the fire. "Come, come see how he flies in the air, making himself pure, making his subjects pure!" He drew Otter to the edge of the roasting pit. His eyes shone in the flare and dazzle of the flames. "Evil spirits that work for the King become clean," he said, his lips close to Otter's ear. "As they slaver, the dross and stains flow out of them. Illness and impurities fester and run free from their sores. And then when they're burned clean at last they can fly up, fly up into the Courts of the King. Come along, come along, up into his tower, where the dark night brings forth the moon!".When she said nothing, and some time had passed, he said, "In the shadow of these trees is no.go at a carthorse gallop.
